

February 17, 2026: On This is a Scripted Nazi Takeover of America

See, these are the articles that sends a car driving past the front of my otherwise quiet home at 12:40 a.m.

Don't worry, folks, I am simply imagining all of this around me using connections that I make in my own mind and that do not actually exist in the real world.

The President's team is not spying on me and I am the one that needs help - not Donald Chump that literally cannot stop threatening people - every single day a new threat comes out of that man's mouth - but I'm the crazy one - ssshhhhh — sure.

That car idling past my home right now is the paperboy, on his way to deliver milk to the elderly people that signed up for meals on wheels. He's here to help me. (eyeroll)
